SUPPLY SMALLER AND EX-PORT DEMAND INCREASED.

Corn Unsettled, but, on the Whole, Distinctly Bullish-Oats Go Higher.

Chicago, April 26.-A largely decreased visible supply coupled with a decidedly increased export demand caused a strong finish in the wheat pit to-day. The July delivery is up 11 c. Corn made a net gain of Mc. oats Made and provisions 712010c. WHEAT. In the face of lower cables there was an active general demand for wheat at the opening to-day. Initial quotations on July delivery were 1/2 lower to 1/2 higher.

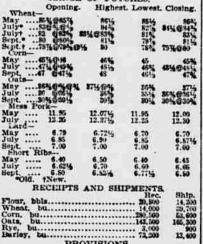

the opening to-day. Initial quotations on July delivery were 1/2c lower to 1/2c higher. at 82 to 83%c. The action of a big trader, whose operations are closely watched by the pit crowd, had considerable to do with the day's developments. During the first hour there was good buying credited to him. A quick advance followed in prices, the July option making a gain of about 1/2c. The market then declined as rapidly as it had risen. The cause of the break was a wild scramble on the part of early buyers to secure profits, the impression becoming general that the buil leader had turned seller. The market received little support on the way down. On the decline the price of July dropped to 81/2c. A resumption of purchases by the principal holder induced active covering by shorts, and prices again started upward. During the last hour of trading the market was extremely buillish, the news in general being decidedly favorable to buyers. One of the factors in the late situation was the showing in the world's available stocks of wheat as given out by Bradstreet's. The statistics claimed a net increase of $73,000 bu., but the increase was entirely by European additions, a decides of the Rocky Mountains. Another influence was the big export business transacted in Manitoba wheat. Strong cash markets, especially in the Northwest, were additional bull factors. There was also a number of crop damage reports. The market closed at the highest point of the day, final figures on July being at 33½c. After the price had touched $14,000 bu. Primary receipts were 204,800 bu., compared with 329,500 bu. a year ago. Minnepared with 329,500 bu. a year ago. CORN.

Notwithstanding a rather unsettled feelwas bullish. The start was comparatively steady on a fair commission-house demand, but on general selling, due to increased receipts, better grading and lower cables, the market became weak. The early break in wheat had a depressing influence on corn prices. On the decline shorts covered freely and the situation turned strong, the July delivery selling up 1½c in a very short time. Strength in wheat was the late buil factor. Although the market did not maintain all the advance, the close was strong. July opened a shade lower to a shade higher at 47½c to 47%c, sold between 46%c and 48½c and closed at 48½c/48½c. May closed at 48½c/48½c. Local receipts were 205 cars, with 74 of contract grade. was bullish. The start was comparatively

OATS. A bullish sentiment pervaded the oats pit, the market being independently strong. Shorts were active buyers throughout the entire day, and there was also a good demand from commission-houses. The break in wheat and corn caused a slight recession in prices, but the reaction was only temporary, the demand being sufficient to bring about a quick recovery. Weather and unfavorable crop advices were the principal bull factors. The market closed strong, with prices near the top. July opened ½c to %c higher at 85c to 35½c, ranged between 35%c and 36%c and closed at 35%(35½c). Local receipts were 75 cars.

Heavy buying in provisions by brokers caused firmness at the opening. There vas some liquidation of May products through commission-houses, but offerings were not excessive until the weakness in grains caused quite general realizing. Prices eased off in sympathy with the decline in grains, but soon rallied again. The close was firm, with July pork up 714910c at $12.30. July lard and ribs were each up 714c at $6.87; and $6.65, respectively.

trimmed with gray moire and lace dyed to match the crepe perfectly.

The foundation is a glove-fitted, feather-boned lining of taffeta that closes in the center front. The full back and fronts are gathered at upper and lower edges. They blouse stylishly over a draped girdle of moire.

A lace plastron is permanently attached to the right lining front and fastens invisibly at the left side. The fronts cross in surplice effect below the plastron and close at the side. A fancy collar of moire is included in the neck seam at the back and finishes the edges of the fronts, tapering to points at the girdle. To this collar is attached a soft ruffle of lace that extends over the shoulders, giving them a quaint droop.

The standing collar has a point in front. Caps on the sleeves fit the arm closely. Full puffs are gathered and attached to the caps, drooping gracefully at the elbow over deep gaustlet cuffs. These have decided points at the top and over the hands. The upper portion of the skirt is of circular shapping, fitted smoothly around the waist and hips with small darts. It closes invisibly at the center back under two inverted plaits that are fiatly pressed.

Near the edge of the circular skirt are three deep tucks that are fiatly pressed.

Near the edge of the circular skirt are three deep tucks that are fiatly pressed.

Near the back, falling in long soft folds.

Fancy stitching which secures the tucks at the foot of the flounce, which add considerably to the flare at the floor. The flounce touches in front and has a graceful sweep at the back, falling in long soft folds.

Fancy stitching which secures the tucks and finishes the trimming on the waist is done in silver threads, producing a very effective touch of handwork. The mode is particularly appropriate for soft, clinging fabrics, such as Louisine, liberty satin, foulard, barege, voile, veiling or silk crepe, with lace, applique, chiffon velvet or mouseline de sole for trimming.

With offering falling of slightly, the farsket was again advanced, and before midday was above the opening figures, with the general list 22 to 25 points higher. The Weather Bureau crop report bullstin proved about a stand-off, but was followed by some liquidation, notwithstanding which the market showed a pretty steady undertone until just before the close, when argressive selling by a local spot house broke the list sharply, and prices were finally barely steady, with the advance cut down to a matter of 7016 points.
